Dear Sir/Madam!

We are proud to invite the students studying at your institution to the V4 Law Student Summit (hereinafter: V4LS)

We would be very grateful if you could forward this opportunity to student associations at your university.

What is V4LS?

V4LS is a conference for law students from Central Europe. Its aim is to promote professional and scientific cooperation in the aforementioned region.

The location of the summit: Budapest, Hungary

The date of the summit: July 4-6, 2024.

Who are we? From law students to law students...

We are organizing the conference as students of the Mathias Corvinus Collegium (hereinafter MCC). The MCC is the most renowned talent management institution in the Carpathian Basin, which has been operating since 1996 and runs public, free talent management programs from upper elementary school to adulthood. The essence of the aforementioned and unique talent management program is that it provides high-level training that augments traditional public and university education, not only in one area, but in an interdisciplinary manner.

The MCC also functions as a knowledge center: in addition to its training, it runs mobility programs, provides extensive scholarship programs for young people, publishes books, and scientific articles, organizes international and domestic conferences and discussion forums, plays a role in promoting democratic dialogue and shaping cultured public debates.

As MCC students, we feel it is our responsibility to nurture and revive our historical past.

The program of the V4LS:

- morning: lectures from distinguished academics
- afternoon: processing of the morning conversations in the framework of group sessions

Why is the V4LS special?

We know that every conference holds deep values, however, speaking from experience, we invite you to choose our conference for these five main reasons:

- Networking Opportunities: V4LS provide students with the opportunity to connect with legal professionals, industry experts, and other law students from different backgrounds. These networking opportunities can be valuable for future career prospects, as they can help students build relationships, gain insights into the legal industry, and potentially even find job opportunities.
- Exposure to Current Issues: Our conference features keynote speakers, panel discussions, and presentations on current legal issues, trends, and developments. Attending our conference can help students stay up-to-date on the latest legal developments and emerging areas of law. This knowledge can be valuable for future career prospects, as it can help students identify potential areas of specialization or expertise.

- Professional Development: Our conference offers workshops, training sessions, and other professional development opportunities for attendees. These sessions can help students build their skills, enhance their knowledge, and develop their professional competencies. This can be particularly valuable for students who are still developing their legal skills and competencies.
- Exposure to Diverse Perspectives: V4LS often brings together legal professionals and students from different backgrounds, regions, and legal systems. This exposure to diverse perspectives can broaden students' horizons, challenge their assumptions, and help them develop a more nuanced understanding of the legal profession.
- Building Confidence and Credibility: Attending our conference can also help students build confidence and credibility as they begin to establish themselves in the legal profession. Presenting at a conference, asking questions during a Q&A, or engaging in a discussion with a legal expert can help students develop their confidence and credibility as legal professionals.
