Tydzień Mediacji 2020

15-19.10.2020, Wydział Prawa, Uniwersytet w Białymstoku

“E-Justice in an E-World”

“E-xpertise”, “E-xperience” & “E-mpathy”

“Discourage litigation. Persuade your neighbors to compromise whenever you can. Point out to them how the nominal winner is often a real loser—in fees, expenses, and waste of time. As a peacemaker the lawyer has a superior opportunity of being a good man. There will still be business enough.”

A. Lincoln

Tydzień Mediacji 2020

15-19.10.2020, Wydział Prawa, Uniwersytet w Białymstoku

Międzynarodowy Tydzień oraz Dzień Mediacji jest inicjatywą skierowaną na promocję alternatywnych metod rozwiązywania sporów, w szczególności mediacji. W tym roku Wydział Prawa Uniwersytetu w Białymstoku promując dobre praktyki w zmieniającej się rzeczywistości prawnej proponuje spotkania w formule online z uznanymi mediatorami ze Stanów Zjednoczonych. W związku z rosnącą wymianą międzynarodową, a także ścisłą współpracą z ośrodkami naukowymi oraz edukatorami ze Stanów Zjednoczonych, spotkania odbędą się w języku angielskim. Październik jest również miesiącem dziedzictwa Polsko-Amerykańskiego co stwarza doskonałą okazję do promowania dobrych wzorców oraz czerpania z najlepszych doświadczeń amerykańskiej praktyki mediacji.

Prelegenci poruszą tematy związane między innymi z praktyką mediacji w sprawach personal injury law, roli empatii we współczesnej praktyce mediacji oraz certyfikacji mediatorów.

W związku z panującą sytuacją epidemiologiczną, spotkania odbędą się za pośrednictwem platformy ZOOM.

W tym roku naszymi gośćmi będą uznani mediatorzy i prawnicy:

Dr. Mary Lou Bryant Frank

Prof. Kenneth Frank, J.D

Dr. David Lewis, Esq.

Martin Waldman, Esq.

Plan Wydarzeń oraz tematyka prezentacji:

Wydarzenie #1 Martin Waldman, Esq., “E-xperience”

Past President, Kiwanis

Martin Waldman, Esq.

Martin G. Waldman is a graduate of Michigan State University. He attended the Detroit College of Law, receiving his Juris Doctor in 1977. In addition to maintaining an active practice in Michigan, Mr. Waldman is also licensed to practice law in the State of Florida.

Over the past thirty-four years, Mr. Waldman has handled a wide variety of different legal matters, including contract claims, collections matters, real estate disputes and construction bond defense litigation, although he has generally concentrated his practice in the field of personal injury law. After successfully litigating personal injury claims on behalf of injured parties for fifteen (15) years, Mr. Waldman joined the Zurich North America staff legal staff office of Carter, Gebauer &

Waldman located in Southfield, where he held the position of chief trial attorney. During the next twelve (12) years, he primarily defended against catastrophic injury lawsuits instituted against Zurich policyholders as a result of motor vehicle collisions, slip and fall incidents and construction site accidents. During this time, Mr. Waldman also represented numerous automobile dealerships in defending significant business loss claims arising from alleged violations of the Michigan Consumer Protection Act and the federal Truth in Lending Act, including litigating three class action cases filed in the United States District Court. In July of 2003, Mr. Waldman returned to private practice opening his present office in West Bloomfield. Since that time, he has concentrated his efforts in the field of alternative dispute resolution, an area of law in which he has been actively involved since 1995.

In February of 2003, in order to ensure that the skills which he had developed over the years were consistent with the requirements mandated by the Michigan Supreme Court Administrator's office, Mr. Waldman completed the required 40-hour mediation training offered through the Oakland Mediation Center located in Bloomfield Hills. Over the years, he has successfully mediated thousands of lawsuits assisting the parties in arriving at a negotiated settlement. In addition to serving the legal community as a mediator, Mr. Waldman has extensive experience conducting hearings as a neutral arbitrator.

Mr. Waldman's background in having represented injured parties, as well as insurance carriers, places him in the unique position of being able to see both sides of a claim or dispute, to articulate the positions taken by the respective parties, and to facilitate an amicable resolution without the need of protracted and expensive litigation.

Dr. David Lewis, Esq., Chartered Mediator, IMI Certified:

David Lewis mediates civil/commercial, construction, corporate, and employment disputes. Mr. Lewis' firm EGADR specialises in corporate and organisational conflict, and assists small and medium sized enterprises (SMEs) with the design and implementation of effective dispute resolution infrastructure at all points along the supply chain. Mr. Lewis also mediates family and workplace disputes on a pro bono basis and conciliates, makes expert determinations, and performs large group facilitations.

Mr. Lewis has taught mediation globally, published several articles in the field, and completed more than 1,000 hours of professional ADR training. Mr. Lewis volunteers extensively in the ADR field including as a coach, judge and mediator for the ICC International Mediation Competition, an expert assessor for the CDRC, a Vis arbitrator, a judge for the ABA Mediation Competition, a coach for INADR, and as a member of the problems working group for Lex Infinitum.

Mr. Lewis received his IMI Certification from the Association for International Arbitration and is also one of a handful of mediators globally to have received Intercultural IMI Certification from BRDGES Academy. He holds CEDR and EMTPJ accredited commercial mediator status and is a Chartered Mediator (Q.Med. C.Med.) and Qualified Arbitrator (Q.Arb.) with ADRIC in Canada as well as a SIMI Certified Mediator in Singapore. He holds ADR Group accreditation as a family practitioner and is certified by EU Cross-Border Family Mediators and MIKK as a specialist in Hague Convention Abduction matters. He is registered with the Maryland Program for Mediator Excellence and is the Programs Director on the board of the Maryland Council for Dispute Resolution.

Mr. Lewis completed his Bachelor of Civil Law at Pembroke College, Oxford, a Masters of Corporate Law from Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge, and a JD from the University of Maryland. He also earned his LL.M. in Dispute Resolution as the inaugural JAMS Scholar at Pepperdine University and was a Fulbright research scholar in the area of comparative mediation
